

Dr. Sheena Francis East is a lecturer in the Department of Biology at the University of Technology, Jamaica and holds a PhD in Zoology from the University of the West Indies (UWI), Mona, Jamaica. She is a part of a team of researchers, at the Natural Products Institute, UWI, Mona involved in research which utilises natural products from the Caribbean against life threatening illnesses such as tuberculosis and cancer.